KIM JANEY MAYOR

April 12, 2021

TO THE CITY COUNCIL

Dear Councilors:

I transmit herewith my Fiscal Year 2022 (FY22) Recommended Budget for the City of Boston. This year's fiscally responsible $3.75 billion FY22 Operating Budget and $3.2 billion FY22-FY26 Capital Plan provides the resources for the City's continued robust public health response to COVID-19 and sets the stage for our shared equitable recovery. COVID-19 has brought on unprecedented health, economic and social change to our City, and this budget proposal meets that moment and makes targeted investments to ensure that we emerge from this public health crisis more equitably because we can't go back, we can only go better.

While prior to COVID-19 our City had a growing economy and was attracting more residents and businesses every year, too many were being left behind and unable to take part in that shared prosperity. COVID-19 has deepened that divide and revealed the stark inequalities that have existed in our City for too long. That's why equity lives at the heart of this budget proposal and informs everything from how we are allocating our new resources, to ensuring that those resources are spent with local organizations, especially businesses of color. This budget is one important part of our shared goal of making Boston a more equitable city for all.

The COVID-19 pandemic has brought on tremendous economic disruption to all sectors of our local economy, big and small, including our own city budget. But thanks to years of shared fiscal responsibility, Boston entered this pandemic as one of the best prepared local governments in the country. We have had 7 years in a row of triple A bond ratings and took decisive action over the past year to ensure we had a balanced budget despite large losses in local revenue. Fiscal responsibility remains the foundation of this year's Operating Budget and Capital Plan proposals, and in turn will help accelerate the City's overall recovery from the pandemic.

Thanks to continued strength in the local economy and a significant infusion of federal funding from the American Rescue Plan, the Recommended FY22 Operating Budget proposes a year-over-year increase of $142 million or 3.9% over FY21. Even with weakness in certain sectors of the economy, property tax revenue has proven resilient over the past year, though we are mindful and cautious on projecting the effect that COVID-19 will have on new development in the City. Other local revenue sources like excise taxes and department revenue will rebound slightly as the economy reopens more fully, but will remain well below pre-pandemic levels.

The most significant new dynamic to this year's budget is the recently passed American Rescue Plan that will provide hundreds of millions in federal funding to the City, the Boston Public Schools and other local organizations over the next five fiscal years. While we await formal notice from the federal government, the City is expected to receive an estimated $215 million in funding for use over the next year, and our thoughtful approach to the utilizing this funding is twofold-

- Between FY21 and FY22 dedicate $100 million to offset local revenue declines driven by the pandemic to ensure flexibility, stability and fiscal resiliency, as well as, make near term investments to expand and create vital city programs to Reopen, Recover and Renew our City post COVID-19.
- For the second portion of $115 million, my administration will establish an Equitable Recovery Resources Coordinating Committee, made up of stakeholders from across City government to ensure equitable, transparent and accountable distribution of these funds for economic and social recovery.

This fiscally responsible budget will also fully fund our long-term liabilities, like pensions and debt service, enabling investment in our City's largest Capital Plan in history. The Capital Plan touches all neighborhoods and supports capital projects, including schools and libraries, and annual programs, such as Vision Zero transportation efforts and street tree plantings. The proposed FY22 budget also fulfills the second year of the City's three-year $100 million commitment to the Boston Public Schools. $36 million in new investments will go into schools and classrooms to facilitate a safe return to our school buildings and support our students and school communities through post-COVID-19 recovery. Total public education spending, including support for our charter school students, will increase by $66 million, representing 47% of all new city funding.

This budget charts a course for an equitable recovery and builds on the substantial public health programs and services expanded or established in response to COVID-19. In the past year alone, we have stood up food centers, built field hospitals and transitioned our school system from in-person, to online, and back again. New investments will provide needed assistance for our most vulnerable and training and support for those individuals and industries most hard hit during the pandemic. The Boston Public Health Commission will build sustainable capacity in its infectious disease bureau and invest in services and programs to address substance misuse. As we reopen our city, we'll address immediate needs and expand services for post COVID-19 programming including in Arts, Parks, Youth, and Age Strong. This budget is also centered on renewal and working towards a more equitable future for us all. Significant funding will support housing and homelessness efforts to prevent displacement and expand housing opportunities for families of every income in every neighborhood. Important investments to begin the work to heal racial divides include new funding for the Equity and Inclusion Cabinet, the Office of Police Training and Accountability, and alternative policing.

The FY22 budget recognizes and meets the challenges of the moment while remaining grounded in fiscal responsibility and avoiding layoffs, furloughs or service reductions. As we move forward towards a safe reopening and recovery, we must continue to focus on renewing all parts of our city.

I look forward to working with you during the budget process, and I respectfully request your favorable action on the FY22 Operating Budget and the FY22-FY26 Capital Plan.

Sincerely,

Kim Jahey Mayor of Boston

TO THE CITY COUNCIL

Dear Councilors:

I transmit herewith an appropriation order for the Boston Public Schools (BPS) for Fiscal Year 2022 (FY22), in the amount of $1.29 billion, submitted pursuant to the provisions of Chapter 224 of the Acts of 1936, as amended by Chapter 190 of the Acts of 1982, as further amended by Chapter 701 of the Acts of 1986, Chapter 613 of the Acts of 1987, and Chapter 108 of the Acts of 1991.

Over the past year, the City, along with the entire BPS community, has worked rapidly and tirelessly to adapt to challenging and unprecedented circumstances. We have distributed tens of thousands of computers, set up meal sites across neighborhoods to serve students and their families, pushed online curriculum out to all schools, and sustained wraparound supports for students in a remote environment. Because of these efforts, students have been able to continue learning and thriving. In fact, the first graduation during the COVID-19 pandemic was a success in multiple ways: the dropout rate for the 2019-2020 school year decreased from the previous year, and BPS saw its highest graduation rate on record.

While I am immensely proud of our accomplishments – and of the hard work and tenacity that our students have demonstrated in the face of adversity – there is still work to be done. ImagineBPS, the district's strategic plan crafted last year in partnership with the BPS community, identified significant hurdles to overcome, such as persistent achievement gaps and deferred maintenance in our school buildings. Achieving the goals outlined in ImagineBPS and dismantling systemic barriers to student success is no small feat, and will require dedicated funding.

In 2020, the City made a historic three-year, $100 million commitment to our schools. The $1.29 billion proposed FY22 BPS budget fulfills the second year of this commitment. While other cities and school districts around the country are facing the prospect of significant budget cuts due to the COVID-19 pandemic, I am proud that strong fiscal planning and stewardship has enabled us to not just avoid cuts to education funding, but to also grow the BPS budget to its largest appropriation in history. This budget will enable us to make great strides in offering excellent, equitable, high-quality education to all students.

With an eye towards an equitable COVID-19 recovery, BPS built their FY22 budget around three key principles: Return, Recover, and Reimagine. As we continue to reopen schools, we need to make sure students, teachers, and staffs are able to return to schools that are clean, safe, and welcoming. We need to recover from the damage done by COVID-19 by assessing student needs, bolstering supports, and tailoring interventions to improve outcomes and ensure student success. Finally, in order to come back stronger, we need to reimagine the district to provide the academic and social-emotional support structures our students deserve.

Of the $36 million in new operating budget investments, 100 percent of it will go into schools and classrooms to facilitate a safe return to our school buildings and support our students and school communities through COVID-19 recovery. Investments in the FY22 operating budget include:

- $18.5 million to enable schools to maintain existing programming and services, regardless of enrollment declines;
- $16.9 million to provide a social worker and family liaison in every school, building on last year's investments to build a coordinated, multi-tiered system of support for students and their families.
- $1.4 million for the addition of 20 daytime custodians to ensure cleanliness in school facilities as buildings reopen;

These investments will work in conjunction with federal COVID-19 recovery funding. Passage of the federal Coronavirus Response and Relief Supplemental Appropriations Act in December ushered in a new round of Elementary and Secondary School Emergency Relief (ESSER II) funding for school districts nationwide. BPS is slated to receive an ESSER II allocation of $123 million, which will fund additional investments in FY22 including:

- $10.4 million to aid return-to-school efforts, ranging from school building maintenance, to online learning and engagement, to ensuring a bus monitor on every bus;
- $13.9 million for expanding the Hub Schools initiative and implementing academic supports and interventions focused on high needs students;
- $20.1 million to fund innovative efforts to support closing achievement and opportunity gaps.

In addition, BPS is expected to receive hundreds of millions of dollars in federal funding through the recently passed American Rescue Plan. Along with the continuation of recent years' landmark investments – such as rolling out universal pre-K and providing a nurse in every school – the new infusion of City and federal funding for BPS in FY22 will strengthen our ability to achieve the goals outlined in ImagineBPS.

The FY22 Operating budget also includes a proposed $32 million increase for our charter school students, so our total increase in public education for next year tops $66 million and over $1.5 billion total. This $66 million increase in FY22 represents over 42% of the total new City resources across all categories of spending. Public Education spending remains over 40% of our City budget, and per-pupil spending at BPS will reach $23,500, an increase of $1,700 over last year.

While we remain committed to ensuring a safe and equitable return, the moment requires that we also take bold action to recover and reimagine a better district. I am confident that the proposed FY22 BPS budget will help us meet the moment, and I look forward to working with you to create a district where every child, in every classroom, in every school can achieve the greatness within them.

I respectfully request your support of the FY22 appropriation for the Boston Public Schools.

Sincerely,

Kim Janey Mayor of Boston
