
Green City

“ Franklin Park is the finale for Frederick Olmsted’s Emerald Necklace park system. But right now, the park’s entrance from the Arborway is dominated by the convergence of roadways. This spot could be greatly enhanced with a beautiful and welcoming entrance to the park.

I would be excited about...

(Check all that appeal to you)

- Enhancing a large Boston park outside downtown to rival Central Park
- Completing the Emerald Necklace
- Creating a citywide system of tree-lined streets that strengthen walking and biking connections
- Investing in existing parks throughout the city including Boston Common
